

B.C. Rangelands: Diverse Landscapes, Diverse Values

British Columbia's rangeland resources include grasslands, forests, shrublands, wetlands, subalpine and alpine plant communities. Healthy rangelands support viable wildlife populations and a vibrant livestock industry. Intact rangelands fulfill ecological, social, spiritual and aesthetic values and provide a legacy for the future.

Ministry of
Forests and Range

Want to learn more? Visit <http://www.for.gov.bc.ca/hra/>

March 2009